Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: How do we fix this leak?

Learning Outcome

Describe ways of solving problems and getting things done in work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What is the easiest household problem to fix?
- What is the most expensive thing you've ever bought for your house?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about household problems.
- I can say and use the sounds sh and ch.
- I can use proper intonation in finished and unfinished ideas.

Let's Explore!

Peter's apartment is a sinking ship!

* "A sinking ship" is a serious problem that might not be resolved.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: Lunch was scrumptious! It certainly wasn't cheap either.
- Vanessa: Don't be so sheepish! Now it's back to fixing up the apartment!
- Sally: Have you finished all your laundry yet?
- Vanessa: Not quite. I have purchased a new washer though. It was astronomically expensive!
- Peter: Now it needs to be installed. Do you want my assistance with that?
- Vanessa: No it's okay. The delivery person will do it and they said if new hoses need to be put in, they will do that.
- Peter: What the heck?
- Vanessa: The floors are wet!
- Sally: Oh my God this ship is sinking!
- Peter: Not funny! Let's figure out how this happened. Maybe there's a leak somewhere.
- Vanessa: I will check the kitchen. The bathroom needs to be checked as well.
- Peter: The washer needs checking too. Vanessa was hogging it all morning!
- Vanessa: Gosh, you really have a chip on your shoulder! Let me see if ...
- Sally: The kitchen sink has a cracked pipe. It looks like ...
- Peter: It looks like someone chopped or sliced the pipe in half. We need to shop for a new one.
- Vanessa: And someone left the water running while we were out. If it had been turned off before we ...
- Sally: We all share the responsibility. Get Peter a chair.
- Vanessa: He looks like he's going to pass out.
- Peter: The landlord needs to be called. A new pipe needs to be put in.

Let's Practice!

Peter's apartment needs to be painted!

Instructions: Make a line to match the word and its definition.

COLUMN A

1. Landlord
2. Pipe
3. Hose
4. Astronomically
5. Hog
6. Cracked

COLUMN B

- a. Tube made of metal or another strong and rigid material.
- b. Enormously; immensely.
- c. Damaged and showing lines on the surface.
- d. To use something and to stop others from using or having it.
- e. Person who owns or rents apartments.
- f. Flexible tube that carries fluids.

Let's Practice!

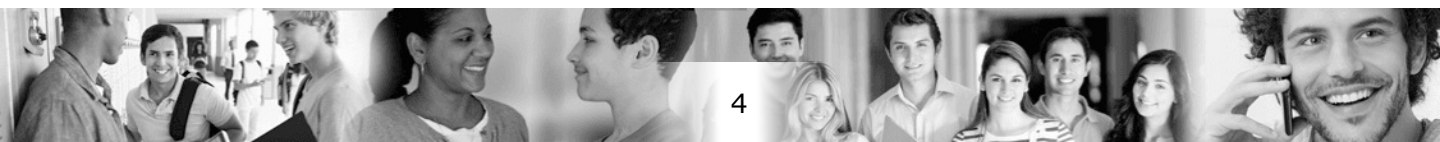

Peter needs a chair*!

*This is a finished thought and it is not a yes/no question. Therefore the intonation goes down at the end.

Instructions: Read the clues on the left. Check the correct box in the table. There is only one answer per sentence.

1. Maybe there's a leak somewhere.
2. Do you want my assistance with that?
3. Let me see if ...
4. It looks like ...
5. If it had been turned off before we ...
6. Get Peter a chair.
7. We need to shop for a new one.

Learning Points

Is It Chop or Shop?

Ch and sh are unvoiced. When a sound is voiced it produces vibrations in the voice box. When a sound is unvoiced it is without using the voice box.

CH Sound	SH Sound
cheap	sheep
lunch	scrump t ious(ti sounds like sh)
chip	ship
chop	shop

Examples:

- Lunch was scrumptious!
- It certainly wasn't cheap either. Don't be so sheepish!
- Oh my God this ship is sinking! Gosh, you really have a chip on your shoulder!
- It looks like someone chopped or sliced the pipe in half. We need to shop for a new one.

Intonation of Finished and Unfinished Ideas

If you raise intonation at the end of a sentence, it indicates that you have not completed your thoughts.

Unfinished Thought

The kitchen sink has a cracked pipe. It looks like ...

We also use rising intonation at the end of yes/no questions.

Have you finished all your laundry yet?

Examples:

- Let me see ...
- The kitchen sink has a cracked pipe. It looks like ...
- And someone left the water running while we were out. If it had been turned off before we ...
